Meet Kurdil-Telt

Raised in Ajax by immigrant parents, I am proud to still call Durham my home. I grew up here, volunteered here, went to school here, and now work here.

Working in the social services, I have seen first-hand the difficulties that so many face across Durham. I know that we can do better, and that Durham has the potential to be so much more.

I am not a seasoned politician. I am a hardworking person who wants to work to change Durham for the better. I want to treat everyone equally and ensure that all regions across Durham are treated fairly.

The status quo is no longer working. It's time for a change.
